

EASTERN IDAHO ORAL AND MAXILLOFACIAL SURGERY CHARTERED

L. Kris Munk, DDS, FICOI

Member, American Association of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery

*Fellow, International Congress
of Oral Implantologists*

*Fellow, American College
of Oral Implantologists*

17 June 2009

To Whom It May Concern;

I have been asked by Mr. Steven Vest to provide a letter of recommendation in support of his educational pursuits, and it is with great pleasure that I do so. I have been acquainted with Steve for several years and have had the privilege of working intimately with him for the past year. Steve first came to my attention secondary to his musical abilities – he is an accomplished organist. His skillful ability to create beautiful music caught my attention and I was compelled to inquire who was playing the prelude music at the meeting I was presiding over. After the meeting, I introduced myself and thanked Steve for providing such beautiful music and he responded in such a humble, yet confident manner, that I was immediately impressed with him. I subsequently asked Steve to serve as my executive secretary in which capacity we worked together for over a year.

Steve and I had ecclesiastical responsibilities for a congregation of over twelve hundred people. His talents and unselfish service were invaluable to me. Steve was always dependable and unselfishly dedicated his time, talents and energy to ensure we were successful. Steve has great perspective and is able to prioritize exceptionally well. Even though he worked full-time, supported his wife while she attended school, was a devoted father, and volunteered his time to other worthy causes, Steve never dropped the ball and let a task slip through the cracks. His ability to anticipate was remarkable and he never let me get “behind the eight ball” in my responsibilities. Successful time management is a very strong attribute for Steve and is just one of many desirable traits he has built into his character.

Steve has the distinct ability to look ahead, separate the important from the unimportant, set goals and then formulate a plan to achieve those goals all the while staying poised and focused despite the set-backs that invariably arise. His loyalty to our cause was admirable and I was never disappointed with Steve. He is a very kind and gentle man and I have never seen Steve act in any way other than respectable. He has a fun sense of humor and it is a pleasure to associate with him. Steve has an obvious respect for learning and seems to enjoy the educational process.

I am completely confident that Steve will be successful in whatever he pursues. His optimistic attitude, even temperament and ‘drive’ will propel him to as far as he determines to go. I whole-heartedly recommend him and would welcome the opportunity to ‘sing his praises’ should you desire to speak with me personally. Thank you very much.

Respectfully,

L. Kris Munk DDS, FICOI